BIG SUPPLY STORE HERE

AS OTHERS SEE US

Mr. J. E. Harris, of Richmond Va., who conducts a chain of tea, coffee and spice stores, was in High Point a few days ago. He has traveled all over North Carolina and part of Virginia in search of a good location to open another branch. Mr. Harris stated that High Point was the best and most up to date city he visited, was highly pleased with our streets and the white way. He noted the fire protection and police regulations and our splendid post office and said: "that any city that could show up to such a high standard of metropolitan ideas was certainly a growing place and no where that he visited did he find such modern city equipment" and so well was he pleased, that he has decided to come here and give to the people of High Point the same advantages in his line that the larger cities get, by having a modern up-to-date store. Mr. Harris is in a position to be of great benefit to our people, having a number of stores and buying in large quantities, will be able to give quality and price. So step by step we get into the limelight of publicity and keeping everlastingly at it brings success.

HIGH POINT PEOPLE WILL PATRONIZE WINSTON-SALEM.

Sterling Smith, manager of the Auditorium in Winston-Salem, announces that he has booked a fine list of attractions for the Auditorium for the 1915-1916 season which opens the first of next month. This announcement will be heard with considerable interest by the High Point theater-goers, and no doubt the Forsyth city amusement house will have a good patronage from the city during the fall and winter on account of the good roads between here and there.

A good roads meeting will be held at Glenola Aug. 21 in which High Point is much interested.

U. S. GETTING READY.

Much Talk Follows Order For Mining Around Norfolk.

Norfolk, Va., Aug. 5.—Whether Uncle Sam is preparing for trouble or just about to prove to the American public that he is ready or a scrap at any time or may not be. One thing is certain, however, the navy is showing more activity at this time than any other time since the Spanish-American war.

One of the most significant features of this activity is the haste in making a number of mines to be planted, if necessary, in Hampton Roads and around the entrance to New York harbor. The Norfolk yard is the scene of this activity. An order came from the department some time ago to make 3,000 mines as soon as possible. Work has been going on for several weeks. Twelve hundred mines are all ready to be planted or set afloat, as the case may be.

It was one of these mines that was exploded against the hull of a big caisson in the Elizabeth river, near the navy yard, on July 20. This caisson, built of armor such as is used in the construction of present day dreadnaughts, was almost blown to pieces when the mine exploded. It was stated that the test was for the purpose of proving if it is possible to build a battleship that is mine or torpedo proof.

DOCTORS IN SESSION HERE.

Thursday afternoon the Guilford County Medical Association convened at the Manufacturers' Club. Our townsman, Dr. J. T. Burrus read a paper on "Notes on European Critics" and Dr. J. W. Austin's subject was "The management of squint in children." Both papers were of a very interesting nature and highly complimented. At this meeting the matter of the Eighth District Medical Association meeting here in November was brought up and plans formulated for the entertainment of the visitors. Visitors present were: Drs. Reeves, Mosely and Jones, of Greensboro and Foscoe, of Jamestown.

Pleased with Pay-Up Week.

The merchants are delighted over the success of pay-up week, which closed Saturday night, and President Geo. T. Wood, of the High Point association, states that the members are highly gratified with the results, and that they desire to thank the public for the splendid co-operation shown during the week.

SUNDAY SCHOOLS TO HIGH ROCK

The South Main street M. E. Sunday School went on a picnic to High Rock Saturday and report a very delightful time. The Sunday School of the M. P. church also visited this well known place last week and likewise had a very enjoyable time. Today the scholars and friends of Wesley Memorial Sunday school are on their annual outing to High Rock and that the day will be thoroughly enjoyed goes without saying. The members of Lutheran Sunday School will also go to High Rock Saturday. This place is already the favorite one-day outing point for High Pointers and all are glad that Col. Coler made it possible for such a place of recreation.

THE FIRE DEMON AT WORK

MECHANICSVILLE HOME DESTROYED.

Fire Consumes House of C. V. Staley Saturday Morning—Oil Stove Exploded.

About nine o'clock Saturday morning an alarm was turned in from Box 21, the location of the fire being the C. V. Staley home in Mechanicsville, about one-fourth of a mile from the nearest water hydrant. The firemen stretched a line of hose but were unable to save the house on account of the progress of the fire. However near-by houses were saved by the timely assistance of the fire department.

The fire had its origin from an oil stove which exploded while Mr. Staley was heating some glue. The loss is about $2,000, house and furniture, a goodly part of the house furnishings being destroyed, especially in the second story. The insurance carried was $1,250 on house and furniture.

The adjoining house of Mr. R. J. Skiff was damaged to the extent of $100. or more.

Sorry to learn that Dr. A. P. Staley will pass his lot with our neighbor Winston. By the transaction the Twin-City gains a valuable citizen at the expense of High Point. FOR A GREATER BUSINESS

MR. COLER SPEECH AT GREENSBORO.

Tells Why Small Roads Should be Encouraged—Speaks of the jitney Bus Feature and Presents Plausible Argument.

The address of Hon. Bird S. Coler, of High Point and New York, before the Pan-American dinner in Greensboro Wednesday night on "Transportation" has received much favorable comment. In speaking of the Carolina & Yadkin River Railroad, in which he is interested. Mr. Coler said, "In developing a new road, no matter how small, it is necessary that it receive every ounce of freight that can possibly be turned over to it. It takes a year or more to establish freight rates throughout the country, and a new road cannot survive by only giving it a small part of your business that it can handle. There is so much that it cannot handle that the mere division of what it can is not always sufficient for its existence or development."

There was one side of transportation business touched by Mr. Coler, however, that has not been very generally discussed in this part of the country. That was the entry into the field of the "jitney bus." The speaker's arraignment of this mode of transportation seemed to be based on sound judgment. He said, in part:

"Street railway transportation" is facing a new and serious situation, and I want to say frankly that the situation is just as serious to the cities as to the railways. Transportation, to be of value, must have regularity of service, safety to citizens and care of the streets. Rapid development in some sections of the jitney bus has placed some street railways in jeopardy. We ourselves have not been seriously troubled, but I want to call your attention to the fact that in many places the irresponsible man, with $100, second-hand car, can run amuck through the streets, taking up passengers only at rush hours, giving no regularity of service, destroying streets and injuring citizens, without being under a bond by which judgment for damages could be met.

"In Greensboro, alone, this year we are expending on street paving more than enough money to establish the jitney system throughout the city with the highest priced cars, new. I think the time is coming when the cities will see that the jitneys should be so regulated by law that, first, they should pay license that would equal the upkeep of the streets which they destroy, be under a bond that will meet damages for injury of citizens, and also be under additional security that would provide for fines in case their service was not regular. And, even then, only be licensed to serve such sections of the city as not already at hand to street railway facilities."

Miss Mary Alice Tate returned from Ruffin last week accompanied by a party of friends to attend a house party at Miss Tate's this week.

The Merchants' picnic has been called off owing to so many of the Sunday Schools going to High Rock this and last week.

FINE PEACHES.

Sunday the editor had the pleasure of visiting the home of Mr. J. J. Idol five miles out and looking over his place. Mr. Idol is one of the leading farmers of this section. He not only raises an abundance of grain, feed, vegetables, etc., but he has one of the finest fruit orchards anywhere. His peach orchard is particularly fine, embracing all the leading varieties. He has sold 400 bushels and has that many more on the trees. No picture is prettier than his acres of delicious ripe peaches without a blemish and is a treat to look upon them. Mr. Idol believes in "living at home" as the saying goes and an inspection will convince any one that this is true. We enjoyed our visit immensely.

Ivey Smith spent several days in Marion this week, where his wife is visiting.

The Muddy Creek murder case attracted quite a good deal of attention here and a number of the books bearing on the famous case were sold readily here this week.
